

Yeah. I got invited to the Christmas party by mistake. Who knew?

None of this would have been possible without the fantastic resources generously provided by immensely talented emulator authors, and communities such as Hall of Light, Lemon Amiga, Lemon 64, World of Spectrum, Moby Games, World of Longplays and Recorded Amiga Games. Thank you for your tireless dedication to preserving the history of gaming.

I present the evidence. It's based on a Christmas movie that includes the rea/ Santa Claus.

It includes a subtle nod towards Lethal Weapon, which is also a Christmas movie.

It features poinsettias, also known as the 'Christmas Star'. A plant commonly used in festive displays.

...and a Chrimbo tree. Don't look at the terrorists, they're not relevant.

Then there are the Christmas wreaths. That's why the press are here, to interview the decorations.

Those and the immaculately wrapped pressies adorned with curly bows. Nothing remotely menacing afoot here.

During the same era doctors smoked and actually recommended it for the miraculous health benefits, Santa was a spokesman for the pastime.

Case closed. Christmas movie. Christmas game. It's happening ...this Christmas Eve, naturally. Welcome to the party, pal.
